HISTORY: PAPER I

MARKING GUIDELINES

Time: 3 hours

200 marks

These marking guidelines are prepared for use by examiners and sub-examiners, all of whom are required to attend a standardisation meeting to ensure that the guidelines are consistently interpreted and applied in the marking of candidates' scripts.

The IEB will not enter into any discussions or correspondence about any marking guidelines. It is acknowledged that there may be different views about some matters of emphasis or detail in the guidelines. It is also recognised that, without the benefit of attendance at a standardisation meeting, there may be different interpretations of the application of the marking guidelines.

These memoranda serve as guidelines.

- 2.4 How reliable is this source for historians studying the effect of the assassination of Chris Hani on the South African negotiation process in 1993?

[LEVEL 6]

To obtain full marks mention should be made to origin, intention and bias/limitation within the source. Usefulness/value does not need to be addressed, but if included should not be penalised.

The origin of the source is the Cape edition of the Sunday Times published in April 1993. The source is only from a journalist's perspective and summarises key events around the assassination. The article gives its own interpretation of the event and is clearly biased against those against the negotiation process. The event is referred to as a "menace", a "tragedy" and praise is given to the various leaders calling for peace. The negotiation process is described as "benign" and the leaders described as "eloquent" and "brave". This emotive language suggests bias in the source. In addition, this is not the entire source; it has been edited and is only an extract from the original. The bias, interpretation and editing makes this an unreliable source if used on its own/or reliable to a certain extent.

Optional:

The source is valuable/useful as a primary source and it describes the atmosphere and tension of the time "delicate atmosphere of political transition". It captures the emotion and gives insight into the actions of the leaders.

Use this rubric in conjunction with the abovementioned guidelines

5–6	Evaluation/Limitation & Bias Comprehends the source/acknowledges limitation/focuses on origin and intention and acknowledges bias in order to deduce that the source has limited reliability or is unreliable. Must quote/provide some reference to bias in the source to be credited with 6 marks.
3–4	Analysis and Limitation Shows ability to comprehend the source/acknowledges origin and/or intention and vague mention of the limitation of the source if used on its own/no attempt to evaluate the source (bias, etc.).
1–2	Comprehension Describes the information obtained from the source/only able to comprehend the source but no attempt to evaluate the source itself (limited discussion of origin or intention).
0	No attempt to answer the question.
